

WOMEN DELIVER 2023 CONFERENCE

WRAP UP

THANK YOU FOR UNITING WITH US AT WD2023

To all in-person and virtual delegates, attendees, media, supporters, and all the girls, women, and allies who shared their voices with us:

The Women Deliver 2023 Conference (WD2023) was a week filled with extraordinary energy. Together, we harnessed our collective experiences, power, rage—but above all, hope—to galvanize change. We created spaces. We joined in solidarity. We fought for solutions.

And the work continues.

Thank you for your time, dedication and for joining us from all over the globe. You will be hearing more from us in the coming weeks. For the moment, we want to celebrate what WD2023 was.

It was:

6,300+ feminists representing 170 countries

240+ journalists and content creators

600 scholarship recipients

87+ sponsors and funders

over 10,000 people joining us online

What it was and what we hope comes out of the Conference is a moment that sustains our movement. The only way to achieve our objectives is through collective efforts. We hope that WD2023 has planted the seeds to strengthen our solidarity and unity now, and long into the future.

Yours,
The Women Deliver Team

WD2023 OUTCOMES AND HIGHLIGHTS

A new commitment to working with others to more effectively counter the anti-rights movement with a focus on the most neglected sexual and reproductive health areas.

A campaign launched by over 40 organizations to close the gender nutrition gap, alongside a co-created Action Agenda, that calls for transformative actions from governments to improve women's and girls' nutrition.

The RESPECT Women website, an online platform that aims to drive concrete actions to prevent and respond to violence against women and girls, launched by The World Health Organization (WHO), together with UN Women, the United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA), and the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP).

Canada announced more than $200 million in funding as part of Canada's SheSOARS initiative, funded as part of the 10-Year Commitment to Global Health and Rights. Some of the money will be allocated towards the UNFPA-UNICEF Global Programme to End Child Marriage and the Girls Not Brides project.

The Kigali Call to Action: United for Women and Girls' Bodily Autonomy announced by UNFPA to accelerate investments and actions, with women-led organizations and the feminist movement at the center.

A new Women Deliver Emerging Leaders Program that will put more trust-based funding into the hands of young people and ensure that they have the knowledge, resources, supportive ecosystem, and leadership opportunities to achieve their gender equality and sexual health and reproductive advocacy goals.

THANK YOU TO OUR WD2023 SPONSORS AND FUNDERS

LEADER SPONSORS

FUNDER SPONSORS

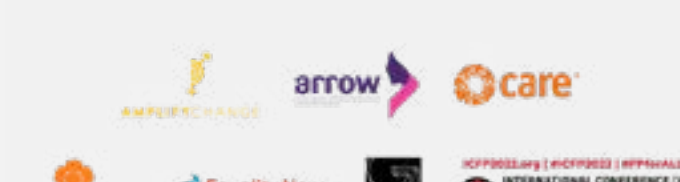

VISIONARY SPONSORS

CHAMPION SPONSORS

SUPPORTER SPONSORS

ADVOCATE SPONSORS

MEDIA PARTNERS

Check out our Highlights Reel

Visit our virtual platform for exclusive content from WD2023 featuring:

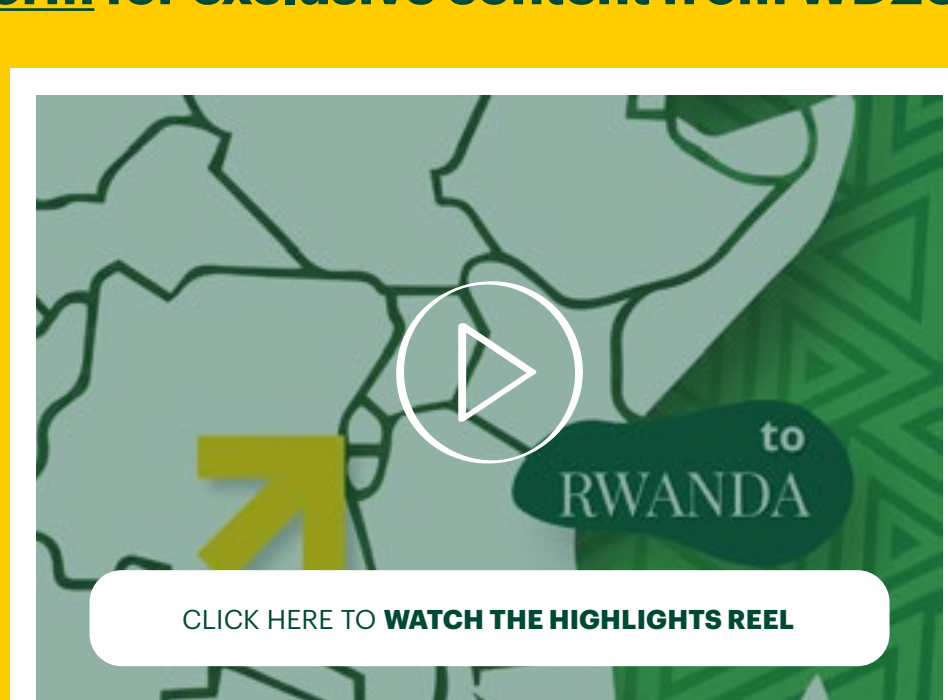

The closing ceremony in Kigali

11 Plenary sessions

Arts & Film Festival:

Access 100+ feature-length films on gender equality

And much more!

Obtain your Conference Participation Certificate!

Attended Women Deliver 2023? Registered delegates can now obtain a certificate of participation.

1

To obtain your in-person and virtual certificate:

- Access the Virtual Platform and login to your account using your registered email address and password, the same credentials you used to access the Conference app.

2

To download your certificate:

Once logged in, navigate to the "participation certificate" section. Here, you will be asked to answer a question to download your certificate. Please ensure that your name and affiliation are correctly displayed.

Stay in touch

Website

Instagram

Twitter

LinkedIn

Facebook

YouTube

Flickr